

The Viva Progress Report /průběh obhajoby/

Programme: Erasmus Mundus MA/Mgr. in Special and Inclusive Education

Module: Dissertation

Module code: ERM030L003S

Student Name: Ivana Rajkovič

The research project was well presented with excellent informative content. The presentation had five major parts: introduction, review of the literature, and research methodology. Ivana then discussed strengths, weaknesses and limitations of the study with particular focus on methods implemented. The project title was justified by importance of ethnic identity of minority students in education, their schooling experiences and family environmental factors.

The follow up discussion was targeted at advantages and weaknesses of the qualitative research method used. Possible modification for potential follow up research project was considered.

Ivana presented her project in an organised way. Her answers to the questions of the board were adequate and relevant. Ivana demonstrated her strong commitment to the research problem.
