

The topic of my thesis "mutant apoA-I in the treatment of chronic arterial occlusions and prevention of atherosclerosis" falls into the area which I have long-term interest. I have always been interested in it rather as an internal issue and to especially the treatment of metabolic and cardiovascular diseases and prevention.

This thesis has helped me to better orient in such a wide issues such as atherosclerosis, pathogenesis, and treatment with the latest procedures, although in some cases, while only experimental.