The present work is focused to cryptographic functions in PDF format.
The aim is to examine problems with long-term archiving of documents in PDF format. It cryptographic functions used in the documents are for long-term archiving problem. There is a lot of ways how to provide security in PDF documents. I conclude it should be provided a simple risks analysis before providing long-term archiving of PDF document. An organization also should take this analysis when creating its retention plan.