

Bachelor thesis deals with the cooperation of the family and Special primary school. For my bachelor thesis I choosed a Special primary school in Susice - detached workplace of Diakonie of Evangelical Church Merklin, where I also conducted interviews with parents and the Deputy Director for the practical part of my work. The aim of my thesis was to show the meaning and importance of cooperation between family and Special primary school and show the possibilities of how the school works with the family. The theoretical part contains terms that relate to the Special primary school, family and co-operation. For the practical part, I choosed a qualitative research consisting of semi-structured interviews. In interviews I watched importance of Special primary school in Susice for the families and their children and the importance of cooperation between home and school. The final part of my thesis evaluates my acquired knowledge of the overall work.
