

This bachelor theses deals with relationship between spirituality and morality in the context of social work. Their connection is greatly reflected in attitudes and behavior of people to themselves as well as to others. The theses provide inspiration and ways of solving problems in the field of social work, for students and graduates of social disciplines, as well as for social, pastoral workers, layperson and for those who are concerned with the lives of others. The aim of this work is to highlight the importance of interconnection of biblical Christian spirituality and morality and their consequences in social work. At the same time it is based on the fact that spirituality and morality are mutually enriching. The work is grounded on biblical message and the relevant documents relating to morality and spirituality, including church documents, Compendium of the Social Doctrine of the Church and ethnical codes.
