

ABSTRAKT v anglickém jazyce

This bachelor thesis investigates history of nursing in the region of Mladá Boleslav. The aim of the thesis is to shed the light on the history, development and the current state of nursing in the Mladá Boleslav region. The thesis is written from historical point of view.

The thesis consists of five chapters. Chapter 1 describes the nursing care in prehistoric times and documents the prehistoric settlement of Mladá Boleslav. Chapter 2 focuses on the nursing in the Middle Ages and special attention is given to the formation of hospitals in Mladá Boleslav region. Chapter 3 describes the nursing from the period of Enlightenment till the end of the First Republic. The chapter focuses on the cholera outbreak, the establishment of the military and district hospital and the psychiatric hospital. Chapter 4 discusses the nursing from the end of the World War II up to the present. The chapter analyzes the development of the district and psychiatric hospitals after the Second World War. Chapter 4 also looks at the establishment and the development of the nursing school in Mladá Boleslav. Chapter 5 puts forward the memories of nurses who worked in Klaudian Hospital in Mladá Boleslav.

The development of nursing care in Mladá Boleslav is briefly compared with the overall developments in the Czech lands.

The historical thesis is for illustration supplemented by the picture gallery.

Keywords:

Epidemic, history, Mladá Boleslav, hospital, nursing, nursing school, psychiatric hospital, spitals.