

Abstract

Title of the thesis: Contemporary Catalan culture in French Catalonia

This bachelor thesis deals with the contemporary situation of catalane culture in French Catalonia, which means the French region Languedoc-Roussillon. The objective of this work is to map the contemporary situation, to gain the summary of the knowledge and the activity of the local inhabitants about the studied topic. The work builds the solution on the literature research and on the practical research which is presented on the form of questionnaire. The first chapter of the work presents in general the Catalonia and its two parts. The second one is focused on the French Catalonia. The third one presents the question of cultural and language identity. The fourth chapter contains a detailed presentation of the manifestation LipDub with its objective to recognize the laws for language minorities. The last chapter analyse the results of the questionnaires. The results are compared with the theory presented in the previous chapters.

Keywords: French Catalonia, cultural identity, manifestation LipDub, regionalism, regional language