

ABSTRACT

At present, number of developed countries seeking alternatives to punish the perpetrators. As an alternative to unconditional sentence of imprisonment is called probation and this institute is a central issue this rigorous work. Regularization of probation can be found in Act No. 257/2000, Coll. the Probation and Mediation Service, as amended. The performance of probation is authorized Probation and Mediation Service, respectively their individual centers.

This rigorous work is divided into two parts, namely the theoretical and practical. The theoretical part includes the interpretation of terms associated with probation and its performance, a description of the Probation and Mediation Service, an analysis of existing legislation with regard to the institutions in which it is applied, and description probation activities in Great Britain. In the practical part of the study was used knowledge and information that I gained during visits the Probation and Mediation Service in Rokycany.