

The aim of this work is to examine and implement algorithms and data structures suitable for Scrabble game. The most important data structure is the lexikon of legal words. The program allows human players to play against each other or computer controlled players. Moreover, the players can play over network.