

Abstract

This thesis is devoted to leisure time during interwar time (1918–1938). The main interest concentrates on phenomenon of visiting summer apartments and his character, perception in society and specific relationship to leisure time. Summer apartments were symbol of good status and were very popular among the middle class, but thesis is also dedicated to tramping and beginning of living at the cottage because of specific atmosphere of Czechoslovak republic in 1918–1938.

Keywords:

Lifestyle, leisure time, summer apartments, tramping, living at the cottage