

ABSTRACT

The issue of legal framework and healthcare affect each of us; we're all elements of health care system. Health care and its financing are discussed more and more intensively. Increasing pressure on economical spending of funds selected for the purposes of the general health insurance. Acceleration of the development of science and technology should improve the responsibility of each of us. I tried to point out some important issues from the perspective of the on-going changes in the health-care legislation.

It is also one of the main reasons why I chose the topic "LEGAL FRAMEWORK OF HEALTH CARE AND ITS FINANCING". The aim of thesis is especially to highlight the legal ground and other relevant documents, which provide health care in the Czech Republic, and to carry out their analysis in the light of the on-going legislative changes. In separate chapters then in more details I describe the financing of health care and financial participation of patients, public health insurance schemes and providing of health care. I tried to make a comparative analysis of the legislation on health care and health systems of the European Union members as well. In conclusion, I propose that we must insist on completing the current reform of health care in the light of the domestic and foreign developments.
