

The aim of the dissertation “Criminal Law Aspects of Performing a Bailiff’s Activities” is to assess the legal position of a relatively new legal profession—bailiffs, define the types of legal liability that bailiffs bear, and focus primarily on one such type—criminal liability. At a practical level the aim of this dissertation is to contribute, using case law from Czech criminal courts, to the understanding of the issue of the performance of a bailiff’s activities, in particular in terms of the powers entrusted to a bailiff at the statutory level in the field of seizure law, with a focus on the level of work by bodies active in criminal proceedings.
