

Abstract

The aim of this bachelor thesis is to describe process of the structural development of the Queen Anne's Summer Palace at Prague Castle, with the emphasis on the period in years 1538–1564, including the formal description of the building.