Abstract
This work is focused on selected basic offensive activities of selected ten world-class soccer players. The work is divided into theoretical and practical parts. The theoretical part describes the basic activities of an individual, which employs the offensive phase of the game. In the practical part of the work results are interpreted observation records of matches and activities of the players.