

Abstract (in English)

This bachelor thesis deals with new legal regulations of Family Law listed in new Civil Code Act No. 89/2012 Coll. in force from 1. 1. 2014 with its simplifications for the practice of Social and Legal Protection of Children departments. According to this new act the preceding Act No. 94/1963 Coll. concerning the Family, which has regulated Family Law, and Act No. 40/1964 Coll. on the Civil Code, are abolished.

Hypothesis: This breakthrough change in our legislation influences Fundamentals of Family Law and current administrative and juridical practice.

Aim: analyse new Family Law regulated by articles nos. 655 to 975 of Act No. 89/2012 Coll., compare the legislations with Act No. 94/1963 Coll., evaluate the expected impact on people concerned, as indicated by the abolishment of Act No. 94/1963 Coll., and identify the impact on proceeding and practice in departments of Social and Legal Protection of Children.

Methods used in the bachelor thesis: analysis, comparative study, deduction.