

Abstract

This work focuses on the image of stars in Czech tabloids. The theoretical part defines the word Star, follows the reasons of their adoration and defines stars from different points of view. The practical part describes verbal, nonverbal and stylistic means of tabloid communication regarding stars. The work also consists of the analysis of two selected stars and the cognitive analysis of selected lexemes.