

TITLE:

Ethic Consequences of Embryonic Stem Cells Research

Abstract

The thesis deals with stem cell research, especially embryonic cells. First the thesis is devoted to research and describe the history of stem cells, which focused on embryonic stem cells, which are the central theme of this thesis. This section is also accompanied by visual documentation, for better orientation in the field.

The thesis also deals with the issue of stem cell research legislation, focusing in detail on the Czech Republic and Europe. The solution is also the issue of ethical and religious impact of stem cell research.

Key words:

law, ethics, embryonic research, cell biology