ABSTRACT:

The aim of my work is to explore the junior tennis players' base in the West Bohemia region. Tennis players including girls born between 1988-1995 are the subject of the research. Figures about the players are analysed regarding the numerosity and their performance as well. On the basis of the analysed data a comparison among selected years of birth, between boys and girls and among years from individual years of birth within the junior age brackets from the total of all years of birth.

Acquired results are interpreted and rationalised if possible. Final part of the work contains further possible research questions based on the result of the survey and proposals of further investigations
