

We design an unified system for home management and monitoring -- for example controlling lights, thermostat, roller blinds, etc.

We research various methods of communication with devices used in home automation. We design an unified interface for communication with said devices independent on specific hardware.

Then we implement the designed abstraction, a set of specific automation software and a graphical user interface.