

Abstract: This thesis deals with visual teaching aids that are used in the educational proces. It describes aids that are used in teaching mathematical functions at secondary schools. The aim is to describe briefly their historical development and by a questionnaire find changes in their use in teaching of mathematical functions in the past 10 years.