

Abstract

This bachelor thesis deals with Nazi underground factory from the perspective of prisoners of the concentration camp in Litoměřice and the Small fortress, who worked in the underground.

It focuses on life and production in the underground, daily program, working conditions, but especially on feelings and impressions of the prisoners themselves. Main source for the bachelor thesis are written memories of the prisoners saved in Terezín Memorial.

Attention will be also paid to history of the factory and the concentration camp in Litoměřice town and in the end there will be a reflection on the issues of the current situation of the factory and attitude of leadership of the town to the future of this place.
