

Annotation

Attitude of public towards precautionary medical check –ups

Objective of this bachelor script was to investigate how public is informed about preventive medical check-up and its opinion about this subject. Scrip is divided into theoretical and empirical part. In theoretical part I tried to explain importance of primary medical care and prevention. In observed part I want to present results from questionnaire which was completed by 120 participants.