

Abstract

The thesis titled Roma child in the educational process aims to describe the specifics of Roma pupil in relation to his upbringing and education compared with children from the majority society. The first part deals with the history of Roma and its impact on the current situation of the Roma in society. The next section describes the education of Roma children in both families and at school, and try to identify possible barriers that prevent the successful integration of Roma children among their Czech peers. In conclusion, the practical part is disassembled own experience working with Romani pupil in confrontation with theoretical knowledge described in the first part.