

The purpose of this dissertation (Reaction of the Sudetengerman press to the Munich Agreement in October 1938) was to analyse the reaction of the Sudetengerman press to the Munich Agreement and events in the Sudetengerman region which immediately came after the signing of the Munich Agreement.

The criteria of the research and the sample of the newspapers were set on the basis of specialized historical publications and the archival origins (Chapters I, II). The hypothesis presupposed that the Sudetengerman newspapers agreed to the new situation in the Sudetengerman region and the Nazi regime.

The analysis was divided in two parts: historical analysis and content analysis.
