

Abstract of the thesis describes and explains the basic concepts of unemployment. Shows the rate of unemployment among graduates and deals with the concept of a career choice. Describes the existing advisory services. It focuses on advisory services in the field of education. The thesis includes the analysis concerning the utilisation rates of individual experts by pupils in advisory services, and an overview of the information that the students would most welcome in the choice of other educational path.