

This bachelor thesis deals with socialization of preschool and younger school children with regard to influence of family and children of the same age. The goal of this thesis is to describe how family and kids of the same age influence children's socialization. And if the theoretical part fits with socialization of children in today modern families. In theoretical part I describe some important ranges connected with socialization of children, then what is family, types of family and functions of family. In the next part I describe which factors influence preschool and younger school children. In practical part will be verify learned and described theory by questionnaire survey.