

Abstract

This bachelor thesis deals with the cooperation between Russia of the one part, and European Union and NATO of the other part, during the years 1991 - 2010. The thesis draws on official legal and political documents, their analysis, as well as comparison of their wording with the actual state of cooperation of the parties; the Russian position is emphasized. Analysis of official documents in original languages, evaluation of the cooperation carried out and outline for its future development constitute the contribution of this thesis.