ANNOTATION
La Réunion, Madagascar, Mayotte, Seychelles, Comoros and Mauritius are a colony of France located in the Indian Ocean. The target of this bachelor thesis is to outline a situation linguistic and variety of French language in this territory above mentioned. This bachelor thesis is divided into five main chapters that are divided into five lesser parts. The fifth chapter is divided into three chapters include the linguistic discipline (phonetics, morphology and syntax, lexicology). All chapters are chronologically arranged and start with studying the geography, the history, the population, the linguistic situation and variety of French.

KEYWORDS
the Indian Ocean, variety of French, history, education, islands, colony, overseas