

Title: Activities of pupils of specific school for environmental protection

Author: Tomáš Malý

Department of Pedagogy

Supervisor: PhDr. Alena Thorovská

Abstract:

Theme of this work is project of teaching environmental education in two-year practical school. This essay is outlining some problems with project education and possibilities of pupils of practical school in this area. Intention of this essay is to describe how we can apply environmental education in the form of simple projects which are based on cooperation, that all in the area of special education. The goal is to provide an outline and inspiration for theoretical and practical processing of project. A partial goal is to outline area of education of mental disabled pupils.

There is specification of two projects in the practical part on which will the pupils of two-year practical school collaborate. Outcome of the practical part is in the examination of usefulness of project in process of teaching the environmental education. For those who are interested this is helpful proposal for application of your own projects in which is taken into account mental level of pupils and other aspects such as rehabilitation of school environment .

The main purpose of this work is in showing the issue of education of pupils in two-year practical school through projects and the following deduction of findings about project education and possibilities of realization of environmental education in the teaching process.

Keywords: Pupil with mental disabilities, Specialized activities, Practical school, ecology, protection of environment, environmental education, education and awareness