

Abstract

The project intends to outline the history of the municipality Nučice (district Prague –East) in the context of contemporary political and social development. The main objective is to describe the history of the municipality since its foundation up to this day on the background of general historical context. An output of the study will be a proposal for an educational trail running through the most interesting places of Nučice and its neighbourhood, and a booklet „The most interesting places in Nučice and its neighbourhood“, informing the public in brief about the history of the municipality.

Keywords

Nučice, municipal history, Černokostelecko, red sandstone, associations, educational trail