

Two substances were prepared in this work, both with PCPCP structure motif. The motif is similar to ATP molecule, although the oxygen bridges are replaced with methylene groups. Both compounds were characterized by mass spectrometry and NMR spectroscopy. Since bis(methylenephosphonato)phosphinate is soluble in water, four pKa values were determined. Both prepared compounds have potential to serve as chelating ligands.