Annotation

This bachelor thesis deals with the topic "Gender in the context of social work – content analysis of specialized periodicals since 2000" has only the theoretical part, supported by texts from selected reviewed professional journals. The theoretical part is divided into six chapters. Each of the individual chapters is covers one field of social work, which the selected periodicals are dedicated to. In the first chapter the goal of the Bachelor thesis is outlined. In the second chapter the texts from selected professional reviewed periodicals since 2000 are described. The third chapter explains the concept of gender and its development in the Czech Republic and abroad. The fourth chapter moves specifically to gender in social work. In the chapters five till seven the thesis concerns about specific areas of social work, where gender is a very substantial matter. The work is eligible for both the layman and the professional public.

KEY WORDS

Feminism, gender, gender in social work, homoparental family, registered partnership