

Abstract

The theme of the rigorous work is the domestic violence. The work is divided into three main parts – into a theoretical part, which deals with types of domestic violence, the characteristics of individual perpetrators and victims and with other theoretical questions connected with this topic. The second part briefly presents the administration law and civil law connected with this phenomenon. The most extensive part of the work is dedicated to the criminal legislation of this social problem. The text is completed with extensive practice of the court.