

Abstract (in English)

Theoretical and literary review interdisciplinary perspective of obesity in adults. The problem of obesity from a medical, psychological and social point of view. The problem of etiopathogenesis obesity and choice of possible causes of obesity in adults. Personality factors of overweight and obese people, personality traits associated with overweight and obesity. Psychopathology in obese individuals. Current options of conservative and surgical treatments with an emphasis on psychosocial interventions.