

This work deals with a phenomenon of party alliances, especially with the alliance of TOP 09 and STAN. This phenomenon is current in the Czech politics. This work concerns other unions of the right-wing or the center parties in the Czech Republic too, and searches an answer for the question, if it is an alliance.

Primarily this work deals with the alliance of TOP 09 and STAN, which were established in 2009. It also deals with differences of this alliance on the state, regional and local level, and searches any cleavages of this alliance on the state, regional or local level. This work also searches the answer for the question, what the perspectives of this alliance in the future are.

The first agreement about the alliance was confirmed in 2009. The second agreement was confirmed in 2013. This agreement enables free relationship between TOP 09 and STAN on the regional and local levels.
