Abstract

Data retention – storing of traffic and location metadata

The topic of this thesis is data retention – traffic and location metadata storing (and providing to state) by telecommunication providers according to Czech and European law (including rulings of constitutional courts). It also describes compliance or conflict with the users right to privacy and also possibilities to provide this data to users. There is also technical description of the data with their meaning and statistics of crimes detection according to validity of this law.
