

In the thesis entitled "Supervision as a means of professional development for social workers social-legal protection of children" deals with the supervision of social workers above mentioned department. The theoretical part is divided into two main chapters and a chapter devoted to the social and legal protection of children and supervision. First, define the socio-legal protection of children, who provides it, who are learning and what social work methods are used in it. The areas of activity of social workers put, I try to show the performance of the profession and the greater susceptibility to burnout syndrome, to which may act preventively supervision. Supervision is also dedicated to the rest of the space theoretical part where I describe what constitutes supervision, who are the participants and what is the process. Subsequently has been devoted to the evaluation of the survey, which is required to determine whether social workers OSPOD consider supervision as beneficial/necessary, due to the demands of their profession and to name these benefits.