

In this work we study the problems joined with the administration of favorite web links directory. We compare several different available systems and we describe pros and cons of these solutions. We analyze basic features of the system we created. We concern with expanding the administration to more languages and solve problems incurred by this requirement. We speculate about elements, which should be included in high-quality system, and invent means of their implementation.