

Abstract

The thesis has a goal to investigate the audience of reality shows available on Czech broadcasting market. Different types of shows will be analysed using selected parameters through the quantitative analysis. We will look for the similar and different parameters of audiences. The thesis is mostly focused on the show Hotel Paradise and its qualitative analysis.