

Abstract:

Krátká, M.: My city a century ago [Diploma Thesis] Praha 2014 - Charles University, Faculty of Education, Art Education Department, 135 p.

The diploma thesis focuses on cross-curricular connection of two educational areas; The Art and Culture - Art education and „Man and His World”. The thesis also analyzes textbooks of the „Man and His World” educational area and determines how and to what extent it is focused on the theme of home, region, the past, identity of subject and places of public area.

The empirical part consists of an educational project closely linking the curriculum of art education with curriculum of the subject „Man and His World”. It focuses on primary education and it’s goal is to effectively educate children about the history of the town they live in using interdisciplinary approach.

The educational project is based on theoretical findings stated in the theoretical part of the diploma thesis. It is also set to the context of contemporary art but in comparison to modern art it seems to be based more traditionally.

Key words:

Interdisciplinarity, Art Education, school subject, educational domain, Project-Based Learning, site, memory of the site, community, Site-specific art.