Abstract:

The aim of this bachelor thesis is the design and development of natural science model school excursion, using the „Český kras“ as an area in which it would take place. Also, creation of the worksheets and methodological recommendations for a smooth running of the excursion.