

The presented diploma work The Livonian state and Moscow Russia in the end of the 15th and beginning of 16th centuries is devoted to the diplomatic relations between Livonia and Moscow Russia in the years 1471-1505. In this years was closed integration of Russian countries under rule of the great princ of Moscow. After the connection Great Novgorod's to the Moscow Russia in the year 1478 was changed into direct neighbour of Livonia the strong Russian state. From this year was diplomatic and military superiority on the side of Russian state. Livonia was not enjoying equal rights diplomatic partner of Moscow sovereign. This situation continued until extinction of Livonia in the beginning of Livonian war.