

Graduation theses is focused on problems of the activating methods, relating to the operating methods with texts and informations. Use the mentioned education methods at the secondary school is the fundamental item.

Graduation theses consists of two consequential parts. First part is engaged in theoretical knowledge and contains a general definition of education methods, as the part of system of a basis didactic category and a characterization of more or less frequented education methods relating to the item. Education methods have connection with secondary school student personality. Election of the education methods in this text, have connection with specificity of a pedagogical interaction at the secondary school.

Second part pays attention to research, which objective is to chart the use of operating methods at the secondary school education. Research is framed in connection with this problems by use of two explorational techniques. Results of the research are compiled to the tables, lists of observation are incorporated.