

Abstract

The bachelor thesis education of children with specific learning disorders in kindergarten on target to map the behavioral disorders in preschool children and to select suitable methods for working with these children in kindergarten.

The bachelor work will deal with the rating and educational needs of children with behavioral disorders in primary school. This work will be divided into two basic parts.

In the theoretical part there will firstly be study of the most common behavioral disorders of preschool kids, their etiology, possible prevention and diagnostics, as well as the technical literature analysis, qualification of concepts and characteristics of preschool child development.

The practical part will be concerned with the research of parents and pedagogical workers awareness of the relevant problem. The aim of this work is also to determine how parents communicate with pedagogical teachers.