

Abstract in English

My aim was to describe the way of termination of the labour relationship according to the valid legal regulation, to compare the Czech legal provisions concerning the termination of the labour relationship with the Slovak provisions and also with the other legal systems of some other member countries of the European Union.

I am also willing to describe the relationship of the newly adopted Civil Code and already existing Labour Code and to mention some thoughts concerning the future development of the termination of the labour relationship.