

The diploma thesis is focused on the service pastoral care of youth in selected Christian churches. In the area of church service, the work is focused on pastoral care and experience spirituality in a particular youth communities of selected parishes and churches. Basic terms such as poimenics, spirituality and the period of youth are defined in the theoretical part of the work. The practical part is devoted to qualitative research, which is focused on four Christian churches. Available information on pastoral care in these churches are collected in the thesis and an insight into the church youth communities is provided.