

The Abstract

Title: Experience programmes as a factor of a primary prevention on basic schools in Prague 6

Objectives: The goal of this bachelor thesis is to find out if and how the basic schools in Prague 6 implement experience programmes and whether the pupils have any knowledge about these preventive activities.

Methods: All the data in the empirical part of my thesis were obtained by a survey distributed among 9th graders and by controlled semistructured interview intended for school prevention program coordinators.

Results: The acquired data showed that primary preventive and experience activities are part of the education process in given area. However, they are organized primarily on a one time bases and without any deeper research which has an impact on the pupil's awareness about this issue.
