

The aim of the thesis is to clarify the way of integration of young Iranians in Montréal in Quebec. The research is focused on the young qualified Iranians who emigrated to Quebec to reach the better standard of living there. The main subject is to explore their social, culture and finally economic integration into the montral/quebec/ society. Thesis is divided into two parts. The first one explains the theoretical frames of migration and integration in quebec context. The economic question of imigration and its impact on the society is also discused. In the second part the social demographic profil and the research results among Iranians living in Montréal is introduced.