

A subject of the bachelor dissertation is Community Planning In The Sluknov Region focused on ethnic minorities especially on the Romani minority. I chose this topic because community planning is nowadays in the Czech Republic a rapidly developing process which is natural to all democratic societies. The process harmonizes social services by involving all members of the community.