

The rigorous thesis “Partner's Position in a Personal Business Company” deals primarily with rights and obligations of partners / limited partners arising to them upon their participation in the general or limited partnership (the “Company”). The focus of this thesis is the examination of these rights and obligations in light of the recodification, i.e. upon coming into effect of Act No. 89/2012 Coll., the Civil Code, and Act No. 90/2012 Coll. on business corporations and cooperatives (the Business Corporations Act). Both laws referred to in the previous sentence became effective on 1 January 2014. The aim of this rigorous thesis is to describe not only each of these rights and obligations of a partner of the general/limited partnership but also to characterise individual problems brought about by this re-enactment and to find at least some way out of such problems, if possible. Hence, the work resolved, on the one hand, the partner's rights, i.e. the right to a share in profit, the right to the reimbursement of expenses incurred by the partner in settling the Company's affairs, the partner's right to the settlement share and to a share in the liquidation balance, The thesis also deals with issues concerning the statutory body of the Company, the management of the Company's business, the partner's right to information, his right to file in the Company's name a lawsuit for the fulfilment of the contribution obligation and a lawsuit for compensation of loss. On the other hand, the thesis deals with individual obligations, i.e. with the obligation of loyalty, the partner's obligation to act with due care, the partner's contribution obligation, the partner's obligation to participate personally in the Company's business, the partner's liability for the Company's debts and the partner's obligation to desist from any competitive conduct. The thesis also discusses the regulation of the partner's share in the Company, i.e. with the general provisions regulating the share, the quantitative and qualitative aspect of the share, its transfer and transference, pledging of the share, the share held in common matrimonial property and in joint ownership. Finally, the thesis also analyses the issue of the establishment/creation and termination of the partner's participation in the Company.

I believe that the thesis may offer to a reader a comprehensive insight into the partner's position in a personal business corporation and if not, it can offer the reader at least a basis for his/her scientific research, as it has been elaborated on the basis of a large number of legal literature and articles which are abundantly quoted in the thesis and such literature may be thus retrieved for the reader's own purpose
